

TAKING STOCK OF THE CLEAN TRANSITION DIALOGUES

10 April 2024

The European Green Deal was designed as the EU's compass to make Europe the first climate-neutral continent in the world. It aims at transforming Europe into a clean, resource-efficient, and competitive economy.

To ensure its smooth implementation, the Commission has launched a series of Clean Transition Dialogues with key industrial sectors. It is crucial the European industry remains competitive and the transition is socially fair and inclusive for all. Through these Dialogues, the Commission is working closely with industry to build a business model fit for a decarbonised economy. Now that the regulatory framework is in place, we will continue to strengthen collaboration with industry and social partners to implement the European Green Deal in the most effective way.

Highlights

Today's Communication highlights a number of key building blocks that have been identified through the Dialogues which could support a reinforced industrial approach to deliver on the European Green Deal:

Delivering an effective and simplified regulatory framework for businesses to deliver on the transition

Taking action on energy prices to ensure abundant and affordable clean energy

Building modern infrastructure as a backbone for EU industry

Unlocking finance for the transition

Leveraging the clean Single Market in a globally competitive environment

Timeline of the Clean Transition Dialogues

13 September 2023

President von der Leyen launched the Clean Transition Dialogues series during the 2023 State of the Union address

10 October 2023

First Clean Transition Dialogue, on Hydrogen

30 November 2023

Energy intensive industries

22 February 2024

Clean tech industry

23 February 2024

Critical raw materials

26 February 2024

Energy infrastructure

14 March 2024

Forest-based bioeconomy

15 March 2024

Cities

22 March 2024

Steel

8 April 2024

Clean Mobility

10 April 2024

Communication taking stock of the Clean Transition Dialogues

Dialogue continues

The Commission will pursue the implementation of the European Green Deal through continued Clean Transition Dialogues

